Foreign Facts.

London, August 18.—As a result of the meeting of the Iron Masters West Look and many furnaces in Lanarkshire are blown out. The strike is spreading to Ayarshire, and considerable inconvenience is being felt in consequence of the scarcity of coal. Several traders have been compelled to sail with ballast instead of coal.

The case of arms seized at Cork on Monday and kept in the custom house under guard, has been delivered to the consignee.

Big Fire in St. Louis.

St. Louis, August 18.—John Craugle, Secretary of the Milling Company, places the loss on the mill, machinery and contents at $300,000. There were about forty thousand bushels of wheat in the mill. Twenty-eight box-cars on the track in the rear of the mill were burned. Some of them were loaded with grain. William Minheimer, one of the millers, was in the upper part of the mill when it took fire and being unable to escape by the stairway leaped from a fourth story window and was fatally wounded.

Two More Victims of the New Jersey Disaster.

Philadelphia, Aug. 18.—Katie McCrystal, four years old, a daughter of David McCrystal, of Philadelphia, died last evening from injuries received in the railroad disaster of Wednesday last at May's Landing. Lillie Grace, also injured in the disaster, died at May's Landing this morning.

Suicide of a Fireman.

Auburn, N. Y., August 18.—Joseph P. Morris, chief engineer of the fire department, killed himself to-day. His concern for the success of the firemen's state convention now holding here unsettled his mind.

Lively Riots Over the Water.

London, August 18.—During a riot at Dungannon on Sunday many of the police were wounded, their ranks being several times broken. They finally fired buckshot into the crowd and the firing was returned from revolvers and showers of stones fell, many of the rioters almost rushing on the points of bayonets in the eagerness of the attack. The police then fired a volley of ball cartridge and many persons were wounded. One man had the side of his head riddled with buck shot and received a bullet in the abdomen from the effects of which he died shortly after.

At Downpatrick in a fight between catholics and orangemen fire arms were used incessantly from 11 o'clock Sunday afternoon until 3 o'clock Monday morning. Several persons were severely wounded.

The Fenian Troubles.

London, Aug. 18.—A Quettah dispatch says: "The enemies force in the attack on the garrison at Keich on Sunday night is estimated at 2,000; their loss 200 killed instead of 80 as previously reported. The British loss is 15 killed and 25 wounded. The last brigade of Gen. Stewart's force has reached Gundamuk unmolested. The evidence pointing to the probability of a Fenian plot to blow up the barracks the guards have been doubled and patrols of eighty men watch the extension of the barracks nightly. It is said that two barrels of gunpowder were found Monday afternoon in the relay tunnel under the barracks.

Woolen Mills Destroyed by Fire To-Day.

New Castle, Ont., August 18.—The New Castle woolen mills were destroyed by fire to-day. Loss $50,000. Insured for $20,000.

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS.

There was nothing filed in the Clerk's office to day.

Several of the stores in the Wolke block are undergoing repairs.

A post mortem examination was made this forenoon upon the remains of Mrs. V. Root who died last Monday. The autopsy was made by Drs. Dills, assisted by Drs. Smith, McCullock, Heuser and McCullock, jr. It was ascertained that death was produced from a shock induced by rupture of the gall bladder which contained several gall stones of various sizes.

After detailing a long list of cures made by the loudly praised St. Jacobs Oil, among them Mr. Geo. Fischer, cured of chonic rheumatism of the knee joint; a lady who had been treated for years by physicians without relief, and cured by the oil, of rheumatism in the knee; Mrs. Fuchs of an obstinate ulcer which had resisted all other remedies; Mr. C. Haehnly of a severe dislocation; all of Jackson, Michigan, the Daily Patriot of that city observes: We have fallen upon strange times and customs, if the foregoing is not considered sufficient to impress the justice of the claims of of this incomparable article.

WHAT THE WIRES SAY.

The Knights Templars' Competitive Drill.

Crimes and Casualties Abroad in the Land.

A Half Million Loss by Fire in St. Louis.

Chicago, August 18.—By 8 o'clock this morning the tide of travel set rapidly toward Central park, where the competitive drill of the Knights Templar takes place to-day. Every kind of conveyance was pressed into service and many thousands went out by the street cars. The weather was oppressively hot and when the drill commenced the 25,000 people who had assembled were impatient at the delay and the incompleteness of the arrangements. The drill did not begin until nearly noon, although 9:30 was the hour set. The crowd did not however stop coming and will doubtless be increased rather than diminished during the afternoon. The following commanderies are participating: Ivanhoe, St. Louis; Mount Demoli, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Monroe, Rochester, New York; Damacus, St. Paul; Roper, Indianapolis; Oriental, Cleveland; Demoli, Louisville; Rod, Dayton, Ohio; Bayward, Stillwater, Minnesota. All these bodies presented a fine appearance and as they appeared on the enclosed grounds of the Jockey Club Park where the drill occurs they were received with cheers.

Additional Particulars of the St. Louis Fire.

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—The mill was running thirty burrs instead of twenty, as stated last night. The tracks in the rear of the mill belong to the Union Depot Co., instead of the Missouri Pacific, and the cars burned there were owned by different railroad companies. The destruction of surrounding property and individual losses will make the aggregate loss by fire and water fully half a million. Loss on rink and contents, perhaps $10,000. The artillery company that used it for drill exercise lost two cannons, harness, etc. The Light Guard cavalry, which also used the building, lost some forty saddles, sixty sets of sabres, revolvers and accoutrements.

St. Louis, Mo., August 18.—The loss by the burning of the Yeager mill last night is now estimated at over $400,000 dollars. A large lot of new and valuable machinery was received at the mill yesterday and was hoisted to the third floor, all of which was destroyed.

The Connecticut Democrats.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 18.—Senator Eaton was made permanent President of the Democratic State Convention. He referred to the electoral commission as the greatest political crime of modern times and appealed to Connecticut to set her broad seal of condemnation upon the fraud of '76. He had no faith in it. The expression was vociferously applauded. He congratulated himself that there was but one feeling in reference to it. Now as he lived he believed Connecticut would give Hancock and English five thousand majority. The Government should be taken out of the hands of those who had fraudulently retained it. There would be a saving of at least fifty million dollars a year. It was the power over all that has brought prosperity. John Sherman was not even a guide-post to the refunding of the Government bonds at four per cent. He could do nothing except as ordered by a Democratic Congress.

James E. English, of New Haven, was nominated for Governor and telegraphed his acceptance. Charles M. Pond, of Hartford, was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor. S. S. Blake, for Secretary of State; Morwick A. Mertz for Treasurer, and Charles R. Tagan for Comptroller. The Electors at large are Charles R. Ingersol, New Haven, and Lorenz P. Waldo, first District; Richard W. Jarvis, Hartford, second District; H. G. Hubbard, Middletown; third District, Chancey F. Cleveland, Hampton; fourth Distrct, D. M. Couch, Norwalk.

On the 5th ballot Thomas C. Armstrong was nominated for judge of the court of appeals. The electors at large are L. J. McDonald and Harrison Jacobs.

Shot and Killed By a Drunkard.

Chicago, August 18.—Last evening Freeman T. Gross, a man of bad reputation who had been on a spree, shot and instantly killed Michael Fleming, a boiler maker. Fleming interfered to protect the family of Gross from abuse. The latter says he acted in self defense.

Arrest of a New York Broker.

New York, August 18.—The police are reticent about the arrest of Elijah Alliger, broker. Superintendent Walling says the arrest is in connection with the disappearance of bonds of great value.

An Entire Family Becomes Insane.

New York, August 18.—Mrs. Sarah Thompson and two daughters who attracted so much attention by peculiar actions in Albany, arrived at the St. Nicholas hotel last night. All are now insane.

One daughter was removed to the hospital and another locked herself in the room and refusing to open the door the police and hotel employes were a long time gaining an entrance. As soon as the women could be induced to dress she and her mother were also taken to the hospital.

A Lively Blaze in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., August 18.—A fire at Glendale (O.) last night, burned Gove's stable, Kloeb's saloon and dwelling, Jno. Wendell's saloon, Dennis Buckley's residence and stable, Jno. Hapen's dry goods store and a stable. Total loss about $20,000; insurance $10,000.

Soft Money Patriots in Convention.

Syracuse, August 18.—The Greenback state convention reassembled today and reaffirmed the Chicago platform with the following addition: Land, air, light and water are free gifts of nature to all mankind and every person is entitled to enough of these to enable him to secure the necessary comforts of life, therefore we protest against further granting of large tracts of public lands by the government to railroad corporations or individuals. We demand a tariff which shall protect American industry.

Coesse Chat.

[Correspondence of the SENTINEL].

Coesse, Aug. 18.—Insurance agents do not like Coesse.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruch passed the Sabbath in this place.

Phil Allen is again in our village.

Wm. Singer is decidedly the proudest citizen in Coesse. It is a bouncing boy baby.

Adam Smith is with us again. A certain pair of bright blue eyes form quite an attraction for Adam.

Misses Katie and Ella Kane, with Master Phillie Conway, of Fort Wayne, have been visiting friends in this place.

Dr. Kitchcart and wife, of Columbia City, passed a few hours in our village Monday, with old friends. The doctor is yet "one of the boys."

Miss Nannie Kaufman will return to Pittsburg, Pa., this week.

The old church north of town is undergoing repairs.

It is understood that a wedding will, ere long, take place on the north side.

George York will leave on Friday to attend school at Valparaiso.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

No arrests were made to-day.

Croquet parties are going out of fashion.

The Pittsburg freight house is to be enlarged.

Supt. Hillegass is recreating at Huntertown.

W. A. Smith, of the Tremont house, is seriously ill.

The fire department was engaged in filling cisterns to day.

There was not a single case in any of the justices' courts to-day.

L. B. Root, of the firm of Root & Co., has returned to New York.

Jacob Shell, an old resident of Monroeville, is in the city to-day.

Two more three card monte men are in town. Look out for them.

A man named Parey came near being drowned while bathing near the aqueduct yesterday.

Two wagons collided on the Harrison street canal bridge this forenoon, and both suffered serious damage.

Henry S. Mench will probably leave next week for a trip through the eastern states on business and pleasure.

Franklin P. Hench, an attorney of Delphi, Ind., and brother of Samuel M. Hench, our worthy criminal prosecutor, was nominated a few days ago by the democrats of Carroll and White counties for circuit prosecutor.

The thermometer stood 100 degrees in the shade in the third story of the SENTINEL building at three o'clock this afternoon.

Wabash engine No. 366 to-day hauled seventy-seven loaded cars out of this city, the largest train ever drawn on the Wabash road.

A full list of the officers elected at the "First Voters" meeting last night will be published as soon as it can be obtained from the secretary, who is at present absent from the city.

Death of Mrs. Sarah Robinson.

Died, at her residence near Monroeville, Allen county, Ind., August 13th, 1880, of leuknemia and anaemia, Mrs. Sarah Robinson, wife of Amasa S. Robinson; aged 25 years and 10 months.

The deceased was born in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, October 18th, 1854. She removed with her father, Isaac Masters, to Ashland county, Ohio, and was married to Amasa S. Robinson September 23rd, 1875, since which time she has resided near Monroeville.

Deceased was universally loved and respected by all who knew her. Her remains were taken to Ashland county, Ohio, where they were interred Aug. 14th, 1880, the funeral sermon being preached by Rev. W. R. Wones, of the Methodist Episcopal church, August 13th, at her late residence, after which her remains were conveyed to the train followed by a large concourse of friends and neighbors who deeply sympathize with her bereaved husband in his affliction. Deceased left one child aged 11 days. J. S.

Narrow Escape.

What might have been a fatal accident had not fortunate circumstances intervened happened this afternoon in front of the Sentinel book and news depot. A little boy, probably about four years old, boarded a street car at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets and rode until the driver discovered him and ordered him off. When he saw the driver he became frightened, and in his hurry to get off fell. Just then an express wagon was going by and the prostrate child barely escaped death by being run over by the driver stopping the vehicle. This narrow escape should warn parents to keep their children from jumping on street cars and wagons in the crowded streets.

IT IS announced that Senator CONKLING will deliver three speeches in Indiana during September. Yet he could not attend and speak at the Republican conference in New York, though he was in the hotel where it was held at the time. CONKLING will manage to make his speeches where they will not do much good for GARFIELD.

THE following was the language addressed to Gen. ARTHUR, Republican candidate for Vice President, by President HAYES, when he dismissed him from the New York Custom House: "With a deep sense of my obligations under the Constitution, I regard it as my plain duty to suspend you, in order that the office may be honestly administered.

"Carter, if you had the cards, wouldn't you play them?"

This is the answer CARTER HARRISON, then a Democratic member of Congress, and now mayor of Chicago, received from GARFIELD in reply to the question how it was possible for him as a member of the Electoral Commission to refuse to go behind the returns and decide the question of fact on its merits, after making the speech he did, saying that course would be taken.

Let us see how the principle thus avowed and practiced by GARFIELD will operate in his own case, should opportunity arise for it. He is now a candidate for President, and the joint convention of the two Houses of Congress that is to canvass the vote and declare the result, is Democratic in both branches. Suppose a state of things like that of 1876. The records of one House of Congress show that Garfield, after a full and free investigation, has been found guilty of corruption in office, and thereby forever disqualified from holding any office under the Government. Votes cast for a person not eligible to the office are of course not to be counted, and Garfield would be out of the question. "CARTER, if you had the cards wouldn't you play them?"

SAID JAMES A. GARFIELD, Republican candidate for President, in a speech in Congress: "I believe, Mr. Speaker, that THE FAME OF JEFFERSON IS WANING and the fame of Hamilton waxing in the estimation of the American people, and that we are gravitating toward a stronger government. I am glad we are." When the Republican party was founded twenty-five years ago and led by such men as SEWARD, LINCOLN, CHASE, SUMNER, WILSON, and others now dead and gone, in whose places pigmies have risen up, a great many Jeffersonian Democrats joined it for reasons satisfactory to themselves, and have been nominally with it since. When that party came into power in 1860 it did so upon its express pledge in its platform, which these Jeffersonian Democrats insisted should be made, that it favored "the maintenance of "the principles, promulgated in the "declaration of Independence "[written by JEFFERSON] and embodied in the federal constitution," and that its purpose was "the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the "states as essential to the balance of "power on which the perfection and "endurance of our political fabric depend." Under the men who now lead and control the republican party, it has drifted away from these Jeffersonian moorings, until we hear them boldly declare that "the fame "of Jefferson is waning;" that "that "the fame of Hamilton is waxing;" that we are "gravitating toward a "stronger government;" that "I "(James A. Garfield) am glad we are;" that the United States is a nation;" and so on to the end. It is no wonder that in view of this changed composition of the leadership of the Republican party, and this changed purpose of its organization and existence, all Jeffersonian Democrats, or Republicans, old and young, who have hitherto acted with that party, are leaving it and rallying under the standard of the soldier-statesman who penned the Order No. 40 and the Pease and Sherman latters. There alone can they be politically at home.

HOW POOR ORTH WAS TREATED.

[New York Sun.]

One of the most conspicuous of the followers whom GARFIELD has brought in his train from the west is GODLOVE S. ORTH, of Indiana. ORTH was frequently presented among the speakers at the various stopping places on the route from Buffalo to this city.

The more discreet portion of the cavalcade would gladly have shaken ORTH off. But he is a brazen politician and a pushing fellow, and the best the managers could do in the dilemma was to contrive to introduce him just at the close of the performances, when the disgusted engine—as the reports inform us—would give a snort of unusual violence, and rush away at high speed before ORTH could get his speech well agoing.

GARFIELD is enough of a politician to know that ORTH can only injure him in his tour. But what could he do? If he or any of his friends had dared to even intimate that ORTH's course in the matter of the VENEZUELA claims rendered his presence unsavory, ORTH would have turned upon them with the stinging retort: "What! does GARFIELD, with the Credit Mobilier dividend and the DE GOLYER fee in his pocket, and the POLAND report branded upon his forehead, object to my standing by his side before the Republicans of the country?"

The fear that a scene of this sort might occur deterred GARFIELD and his body guard from venturing to hint that ORTH's presence and speeches would impart a disagreeable odor to their performances while traveling through a State that had recently buried the Canal Ring and the TWEED Ring out of sight.

AFTER A RUNAWAY MATCH.

A Husband Charging that He Has Been Robbed of His Wife.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 15.—The Rev. Joseph P. Taylor has been compelled to resign the rectorship of St. Paul's Episcopal church here because of trouble about his daughter. Nellie Taylor was a bright and pretty girl of about 22, when, a year ago last May, she escaped from her father's house and married William J. Aucott. Aucott was a painter. His six brothers were in the same line of business. The "Seven Brothers" was the title they went under, and the title is a familiar one out in Germantown, where they came from. The Rev. Joseph P. Taylor lived at 623 Market street, Camden. As rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church he possibly had higher aspirations for his daughter than to see her the wife of one of the seven brothers. Aucott sung in the choir. So did Miss Nellie. They met for the first time in the winter of 1876. The weeks were not many before the young man and the young girl discovered that they were in love with each other.

About Easter of last year the rector noticed how matters were drifting. He spoke to his daughter, and she acknowledged that she liked the young man. Previous to that he had done some work in his trade at the preacher's house, but at that time never had entered it as a guest, and, so far as is known, was never received there as a visitor at all. One day after Easter Mr. Taylor met Aucott on the street and spoke to him touching the growing intimacy between him and Nellie, but the answer was not satisfactory. The young man made reply to the questions in Yankee style by asking if he was not good enough to marry the girl.

"I don't know but that you are, but the match for other reasons is not a suitable one," said the preacher, and he turned on his heel and forbade his daughter seeing her lover, a good-looking young man of 25. His commands were not obeyed. The lovers had surreptitious meetings. In her manners the girl was like a child, susceptible of every influence which surrounded her and forming almost every day the most violent attachments. These affections were usually as brief as they were violent, and almost invariably had ended in some catastrophe. But with all these traits indicative of fickleness she was a very accomplished young lady—a fine pianist and singer, and possessed of a wide range of knowledge, gathered by reading under her father's skilful direction. She had never been called upon to do any domestic work, and was unskilled in culinary art, and for this reason her father considered her totally unfit to fulfil the duties of a poor man's wife. But in spite of all precautions the lovers managed to elude the eyes of the rector, and made and remade their vows of constancy. Finally the father again saw the necessity of prompt measures. He met the young man and said that he would send his daughter away for six months, and at the end of that time, if both were of the same opinion, no objections would be interposed to an immediate marriage. The same proposition was submitted to Miss Nellie, and both approved of it, and all arrangements were made to send the girl away. Tickets were purchased, and a sister of the rector's was brought in to take her niece to Chicago.

Now comes the strangest part of the story. Miss Nellie claimed that her father intended shutting her up in an asylum, and she laid her plans to escape. It was on the evening of Friday, May 9, of last year, that her trunk was packed, and that she went to her room promising to go West with her aunt the next day. The rector was suspicious. He had a policeman stationed in front of the house, but the policeman was useless. Somewhere in the night Nellie climbed out of a window on to a shed and dropped to the ground. She sought the house where lived the seven brothers. Her lover was only too glad to see her. To him she said that her father had got a physician to swear that she was insane, and unless she escaped she would be placed in a lunatic asylum. Aucott and his sweetheart immediately crossed over the river to Philadelphia and took the first train for Germantown. The next morning when the rector sought his daughter she was missing. He went to Prosecutor of the Pleas Jenkins, and said: "My daughter Nellie, over 21 years of age, has left my house, I believe, with a young man named Aucott. Are there any legal steps I can take to bring her home?" The Prosecutor of the Pleas shook his head and answered: "Your daughter being of age leaves you without the assistance of the law to bring her home."

The rector was powerless to act. In a day or two came a note from his daughter. "We are married," she wrote, "and are happy."

A short time after the quiet wedding in Germantown Aucott and his wife returned to Camden. They rented a house, and in the course of time a child was born. Then came a struggle. Aucott could not get enough work to support his wife properly, and he was forced to call upon his father-in-law. At first the rector would have nothing to do with him, but finally promised to pay for the meals which the young wife took in a restaurant. Mrs. Aucott was unhappy. This kind of life did not suit her, and she began to fail. A short time ago the rector made a proposition to send the young wife and her child to the country to recuperate. She liked the idea, and so did Aucott, and Nellie said good-by to her husband. That was the last he has seen of her. He declares that the rector has finally had his way, has robbed him of his wife, and has locked her up in an asylum for the insane.

A Dare-Devil Jehu.

Buffalo Bill tells a good story about a party of Englishmen traveling on the plains before the Pacific railroad was finished. They came grumbling into Laramie, abusing the driver and the coach and the "blarsted country" generally, because, they averred, there was no "coaching or driving outside of England." Their contempt of all things American was showing in the most offensive manner to all the people standing around as they alighted. It happened that Bob Scott, the finest driver and the most reckless dare-devil on the plains, was to take the coach to the next station, eight miles westward from Laramie, and as the gay Jehu heard the remark of the Britishers, he slowly made up his mind to give them a specimen of purely American coaching. The stable boys led out six colts, that looked as if they had never heard of a stage before; they reared and snorted, plunged and kicked until the noble Britons were quite delighted with the anticipation of a fine drive.

"Now, driver, just give 'em their heads and let 'em go; don't you be afraid, my boy."

"Yes, says another encouragingly, "my good fellow, just go ahead."

Bob mounted the box slowly while a man held each horse; he gathered the reins and said quickly: "Let 'em go." And they did, and the colts plunged and reared but Bob's iron grasp held them in. With the aid of the California brakes he held them down to a walk for three miles, while passengers blasphemed at him for a "cad" and a sneak. At the end of that three miles they got to the top of a hill and one Briton poked his head out of the window and began to say something, but as he did, a wild unearthly yell waked that vicinity, and at the same time Bob threw all six lines down. The coach seemed to lift from the ground, and those six colts started at the very best speed they could make. Another yell from Bob, and they seemed to increase it; then to help matters, he drew his revolver and began firing over the horses' heads.

"Great God," cried the Britons, "we'v got in the hands of a blarsted lunatic!"

"Stop, stop!" they shouted; but the mad team and crazy driver tore on faster and faster, while the stage went bouncing over the rocky road in a way that threatened to pound the passengers to pieces. Bob craned his neck over and yelled into the window:

"Gents, I'm just getting 'em started; they'll do better after awhile." And he took out the lamps and hurled them at the leaders with a wild Comanche war-whoop.

The affrighted passengers presently saw the station in full view; the question was how was that team to be stopped. They gave themselves up for gone, and hung on despairingly to the seats. It seems that the horses were accustomed to go right into the stable, coach and all, and up they came to the open door at full speed. There was a yell from the assembled stable attendants and tavern loafers, then a frightful crash as the whole top of the coach went off, throwing three Britons out and breaking two arms and a leg, besides other slighter accidents. Bob came out of the stable smiling, picked up an Englishman, and said:

"Never mind, sir; we'll have a real nice drive to the next station. I was obliged to take 'em along slowly over that 'ere bad road. Boys, put in the other team in a fresh coach, and give me a couple of cocktails. Its dull driving so doggone slow, and I'm powerful dry."

Those Englishmen waited and sent for a doctor, but they did not put down any thing in their notebook about American driving.—Washington Capital.

A Farmer's Holiday.

Just as a farmer of our acquaintance threw off his last sheaf from the last load of wheat he remarked:

"Good enough, the wheat is all in and could not be in better order, but I've worked for it, and I deserve a day of rest. There has been no let up since I began plowing in the spring, and if any man deserves a holiday, I do?"

This remark was acquiesced in by the listeners and he was urged to take the holiday.

Several days have elapsed since the barn doors were closed upon that man's wheat crop, but he has found no time for the recreation promised. Every day has been filled with work that seemed necessary to be done. The hired man has been kept busy. The boys who have anticipated a jolly day have been given regular work. Worse than all, the tired mother, with the little ones about her, still works on early and late, with the added difficulty of trying to soothe the mourning children who had caught the promise of a day in the woods and would not be satisfied until fulfilled. That family will not have their holiday. The oat harvest will be upon them in a day or two; then the threshing, then the summer fallow and the seeding, the corn harvest and the roots—and then it will be winter.

Why cannot that man see he is doing a great wrong to himself and his family? He is waiting for a day when no work is to be done before he takes his recreation, and that day upon the farm never comes. There is always something that can be done. Why could not that farmer, the very next day after his wheat was safely under cover, take his whole family and go to the woods or to the lake, giving his hired help a holiday to use as they pleased, and spend the day himself in complete recreation from the cares and duties of the farm, devoting himself to the happiness of wife and children, thus promoting the utmost good feeling and straightening out many of the care-lines on his own brow. There is nothing in the world that will so unite a family in purpose and develope a trustful, confiding disposition toward one another as these occasional holidays participated in, fostered and enjoyed by every member, and I wonder that so few realize this great truth by a practical experience.

Let the day be a promised one some time in advance that all may be anticipating it and arranging for it, and by no manner of means let the promise be unfulfilled. We urge every farmer within 100 miles of Ft. Wayne to spend at least one day visiting our Fair. He will not only find rest and recreation, but enjoyment in inspecting the vast number of agricultural implements there displayed, the magnificent collection of thorough bred cattle, delicious vegetables, beautiful paintings, and the thousand and one articles that delight the heart. We don't have holidays enough or jolly times enough upon the farm for our own good, and too often the day's sport, when taken, is neutralized by the half guilty way in which we leave the work behind to take the day of rest. To make the most of the day, let all care and thought of work be left at home, and come to the Fair, bringing your wife and children. You will have a better wife for it, and she will have a better husband, both will have better children, life will be prolonged, and general happiness promoted.

How He Did It.

[Detroit Free Press]

Several men were gathered at the door of a blacksmith shop on Cass avenue the other morning, when a school boy, not over nine years of age, came along with tears in his eyes, and one of the groups asked:

"What's the matter, boy—fall down?"

"N-no, but I've got a hard 'rithmetic lesson, and I expect to get licked!" was the answer.

"Let me see; I used to be a king-bee on fractions."

The man took the book, turned to the page, and read:

"Rule 1—Find the least common multiple of the denominators of the fractions for the least common denominator. Divide this least common denominator by each denominator, and multiply both terms of the fractions by the quotient obtained by each denominator."

He read the rule aloud, and asked if any one could understand it. All shook their heads, and he then continued:

"Well, now, I think I should go to work and discover the least uncommon agitator. I would then ouvolve a parallel according to the intrinsic deviator and punctuate the thermometer."

"So would I!" answered every man in chorus, and one of them added: "I've worked 'em out that way a thousand times!"

Not one of the men, all of whom were in business and had made money, could even understand the working of the rule, much less work examples by it, and yet it was expected that a nine-year old boy should go to the blackboard and do every sum off-hand.

A VERY CUTE ONE.

The Ingenious Dodge of a Fashionably Dressed Confidence Man.

The Cleveland Herald in a recent issue says: "Talk about your hotel beats," said a clerk in one of the hotels of the city, the other evening, "I heard of one of the toughest cases which happened a short time ago. I got the first part of the story from the proprietor of a prominent restaurant, to whom the fellow told a history of the affair before he skipped out of town. He said that one evening this fellow came in and sat down to a table, giving his orders with the air of a millionaire. He was nicely dressed, and wore a long, handsome ulster. After he had finished his supper he started out seeming to forget that he hadn't paid. The proprietor stopped him with a reminder of the fact, when it was found that the fellow was a beat and hadn't a cent of money. The restauratuer was angry and about to administer a dose of leather beneath the tails of that elegant ulster, when the fellow begged off and said he would leave his pantaloons with the proprietor as a security till morning. The gentleman in order to test him consented and the fellow went behind the screen and divested himself of the afore mentioned garment, leaving only the light covering of his underclothing. With his ulster buttoned close around him, he still had the appearance of a well dressed gentleman with his pantaloons stuffed in his boots. He left the breeches and went out. Entering a certain prominent hotel, he walked to the register, entered his name, demanded to be shown to his room, and instructed the clerk to have him called at eight o'clock in the morning, all of which was complied with; but when the boy called him at eight o'clock the air about the room was blue with profanity, and the fellow ordered the boy to send the landlord up immediately. The landlord, thinking something terrible had happened, immediately repaired to the room and found his guest apparently in a terrible rage. He wanted to know what kind of a d——d house they kept there, full of petty sneak thieves. "Just look here," said he, "my pantaloons, containing my pocket-book and watch are gone, and some one connected with this house took them, for they must have crawled over the transom. I tell you, by——, I'll give this place away to every man on the road." The landlord was considerably chagrined about the matter, and sent out for a pair of pantaloons, and as the rest of the clothes were very elegant, an elegant pair was purchased. The fellow was then taken to breakfast and shown the best attention the house could afford. After breakfast the landlord gave him $20, as he had to leave immediately, and promised to leave no stone unturned until the thief was discovered. The cute young gentleman went to the restaurant, redeemed his pants, told the story and skipped the town about $19.50 ahead.

BONNER'S HORSES.

The Fastest Collection in America—What They Cost.

[New York Correspondence Indianapolis Herald.]

Gentlemen of refinement, taste and wealth, are given to indulging some particular fancy, mania or hobby to the fullest extent. Some spend fortunes on fine pictures and bric-a-brac, some collect antique books, both old and new; while others invest largely in diamonds and other precious gems. And these are hung, cased and cherished, and exhibited to friends and admired as treasures of the highest order. But the world is made of many men of many minds. While works of men are loved by some, they give back no affection in return to the owner. Mr. Robert Bonner, the widely known connoisseur, has an expensive but humane fancy for horses. They are not only lovable, but loving, and give affection in return for the tender care and admiration bestowed upon them. No gentleman in America possesses this extravagant taste and gratifies it so royally as Mr. Bonner. Notwithstanding he already owns over twenty of the most valuable and best known horses in the country, he is continually making additions to the collection whenever he comes upon one that strikes his fancy. Not one is ever, under any circumstances, permitted to run upon a public track, but are only driven for the pleasure and amusement of the owner who derives no benefit other than enjoyment. Dexter, the oldest of the animals, was twenty-two years old last may, and although he still retains his great beauty, has lost his good disposition; he is awfully cross and curls his haughty lip and shakes his aristocratic head most significanly at strangers. He is driven twice or three times each week and is as fast as when he was purchased for $33,000. Rarus is as well known as Dexter, and with Music, a beautiful chestnut, make a team often used by Mr. Bonner before a plain black top-wagon, with red running gear. Edwin Forrest cost well-nigh on to $40,000 and makes remarkable time. Lately he trotted a mile in 2:17½, before a heavy wagon of 270 pounds weight, when driven by his owner. Major Morton is a bright bay, handsome, rapid and valuable. May Bird is a shapely creature, as black as a crow, but as graceful as the bird is awkward, and travels as well under saddle as in harness. Molsey is another beauty; bay, with black mane, tall and fast, and soft gentle eyes, which are very attractive. Grafton is a 2:15 trotter, and, like Joe Elliott, is as high priced as fast. Pocahontas is known far and wide. Elsey Verner and Lucy Colyer are wonderful travelers, with fine records, and are valued away up in the thousands. Maude Macy is a recent addition to the stables, and is a gem in every sense. Emma B., named for Mr. Bonner's only living daughter, is too "darling for anything." She is a light chestnut, with a satin coat, the trimmest feet and legs, the prettiest ears, the mildest, most intelligent eyes, and the carriage of a handsome woman. She is used in harness or with saddle, and is one of the particular pets.

Early on Saturday morning the Fort Wayne station house at Sewickley was discovered in flames, but the fire was extinguished before any great damage was done.

A letter received by friends in this city yesterday from Joshua Hartzell, who is at present in Antwerp, O., contained the glad intelligence that he is alive and well and would like to lay his hands on the wretch that circulated the report that he was drowned in Lake Michigan.

Emigration West continues, with this difference—more of the emigrants are foreigners. Three times as many are going North as formerly. The story of the drought in Western Kansas has evidently got abroad, and Nebraska seems to be preferred. That State is evidently now filling up very rapidly.

Mr. Joseph Warner, who is at present in the city in the capacity of agent for T. J. Stoner, who is taking bird's-eye views of the principal cities of the United States, made a pleasant call at the SENTINEL office yesterday and showed us a beautiful view of this city. Our citizens should encourage such an enterprise, as it is a worthy one.

Creighton Popejoy, of whom an account was given in all the papers as having his leg terribly injured by a car wheel running over it, now comes forward and denies that he was injured. The SENTINEL obtained its account of the affair from the physicians who attended, but it is possible that he was mistaken or else two individuals of the same name are at present in the city.

Jesse H. Bond, who is a resident of Antwerp, and who has just returned from the western country, brought several specimens of rock to this office to-day which are great curiosities and any one desiring to see them can do so by calling at this office. Mr. Bond is a most pleasing gentleman and possesses great knowledge of the country he has just left.

Yesterday afternoon four young men entered Mannock's saloon on Broadway and began tearing things up in the most approved manner. They pulled the bar from its fastenings, broke all the glasses, and wound up by signifying their intention to eviscerate the barkeeper; but they finally reconsidered their intention and left the place. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Chas. Eichoff who was one of the party.

John Morgan, a rather dilapidated institution, and a young "coon," were all the victims before his honor this morning, the former for being unable to navigate, and the latter for jumping on cars. Morgan was fined $10; while the "coon," whose other name is Enslow, a colored boy who was arrested by Officer Kelly, at the South depot yesterday afternoon for jumping on cars. The officer repeatedly warned the boy to keep away, but he persisted in his intention and the officer was compelled to arrest him. The boy, who is not over twelve years of age, resisted violently and attempted to get away by slipping out of his clothes. He was given a sharp reprimand by his honor and let go.

Attention Democrats of the Seventh Ward.

A meeting of the Hancock and English club of the Seventh Ward will be held at the engine house, on Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock sharp. All members are requested to be present as business of importance is to be transacted. By order of club.

VAL R. MASON, Sec.

The Young Democrats in Council.

Pursuant to a call of the Central Committee the "first voters" Hancock and English club met in the circuit court room last night, there being nearly one hundred and fifty young men present. Jos. F. Beegan presided and business was at once proceeded to. The question was advanced by one of the young men present whether the club, which he said he understood had disbanded should be re-organized or continued under the same officers elected when the club was organized. After some discussion on this point it was agreed that the old officers should be retained and a committee was appointed by the chair to retire and present the names of such members as they thought fit to act as officers on parade occasions. After considering a motion to appoint recruiting officers in the different wards and naming next Tuesday evening as the time and the circuit room as the place for the next meeting, the club adjourned with three rousing cheers for Hancock and English. After adjournment the club proceeded to the clerk's office, where it was shown the banner which is to be shortly presented them, and with Tom Keefe bearing it aloft the members of the club sang "John Brown's Body Lies Mouldering in the Grave," after which Will O'Rourke led in prayer and the boys dispersed.

Democratic Thunder All Along the Line.

During the next ten days a series of Democratic meetings will be held throughout the several townships of the county, which will be addressed by able speakers from abroad, as well as by our local speakers. This evening Henry Colerick, esq., will discuss the issues of the campaign at the junction of the Illinois and Huntington roads. In the circuit court room, to-morrow (Thursday) evening, Gov. Brockmeyer will address the Democracy of the city. He will speak in English and will be followed by Hon. J. D. Sarnighausen, who will talk in German. A general turn-out of the people of the city is desired. There will also be a meeting to-morrow evening at Massilon which will be addressed by S. E. Sinclair, Esq. On Saturday evening, August 21, Gov. Brockmeyer will be present and speak at the Democratic meeting to be held at Hoagland, and on Thursday, August 26, Hon. A. Ellison, of LaGrange, the Democratic elector for this Congressional district, will address the people of Ft. Wayne on the issues involved in the present political struggle. The place of holding this last named meeting will be announced in due time. The work of the campaign is progressing satisfactorily all over the county.

The Cholera Plague.

Vienna, August 18.—The cholera is raging in a village near Terrun Serverin in Roumania, causing an average of fifteen deaths daily.

FUNNY BITS.

Farmers have learned that it takes the best of soil to raise a mortgage.

It is well to say: "Take things as they come," but suppose they don't come?

An old thermometer is never very popular. Nobody wants to see a thermometer over 70.

The country is full of poets, scholars and deep thinkers, but the man has not been born who can tell why the sleeves of summer undershirts are always five inches too long.

"What must I do," asked a mean and conceited man of a friend who knew him well, "to get a picture of the one I love most?" "Sit for your own portrait," was the reply.

Irate instructor of volunteers: "Shure now, Mr. Jenkins, yeare late again. Now I ask you, sor, where should we be, sor, if everybody came half an hour behind the rest?"

The Leadville epitaphs are terse and pointed. Here is one:

O'er this poor gambler's silent clay,
Kind reader do not grieve;
His death took place when Johnson caught
Three cards up his sleeve.

"Are you there, my love?" he whispered through a hole in the fence of his beloved's garden. "Yes, darling was the reply; "jump over." He did so, and alighted in the presence of an enraged mother, a broomstick and a guardian of the night.

Dr. X. is as bad a hunter as he is a physician, but this does not prevent him regularly as the hunting season comes round from spending a fortnight in the fields with his dog and gun. "And that is the only period of the year when he doesn't kill anything," said one of his colleagues kindly.

Grateful, comforting and sustaining in mental or physical weakness are Malt Bitters.

Dr. J. Freeston, Hamburg, Pa., writes: After having tried all the different medicines that came to my knowledge for the cure of sick headache, I found none equal to Hamburg Drops. I cheerfully add the above testimony in favor of the remedy.

MOTHS IN UPHOLSTERY.

For a suit of parlor furniture purchase three gallons of benzine and saturate the upholstery with the same by means of a watering pot, to which attach a rose sprinkler. Every moth, larvæ and egg will be killed. The benzine will dry out in a few hours, and in three or four days the odor will entirely disappear. The benzine will not injure the varnish or fabric, or wood or hair stuffing. Carpets can be treated in like manner with good effect. For furs, flannels, indeed all woolen articles, which moth attack, benzine is almost invaluable. Such goods should be placed in a box sprinkled with benzine, after which close the box tightly, and in a day or two the pests will be exterminated and the benzine will evaporate on opening. In using benzine great care should be taken that no fire is near by, as the liquid, in fluid or vapor form, is very inflammable.

The above information will be valuable to many. But as an ounce of prevention is well said to be worth a pound of cure, it would be well to purchase all your upholstered furniture of Foster Brothers, who have never yet had a moth in their furniture department, who never propose to have, and who will pay to any person who will prove they ever sold a piece of furniture troubled with these pests.

Foster Brothers guarantee every article of furniture or bedding that goes out of their establishment. They have every reason to believe they are selling furniture and bedding at smaller profits than was ever before [illegible] house in America.

TO YOUNG MEN.

A Sure Cure.

The awful effect of early vice, which brings organic weakness, destroying both mind and body, with all its dreadful ills, PERMANENTLY CURED. The results before consumption sets in are palpatation of the heart, timidity, trembling, nervous discharges, dyspepsia, etc., with those sad conditions of mind so much to be feared, forgetfulness, chaos of ideas, sadness of spirit, ugly imaginings, dislike in social life and brooding melancholy. Married men, or those entering on that happy life, aware of physical debility, excitability of the nervous organic diminution, or other irregularities, quickly assisted.

A quick cure guaranteed. NO MINERALS USED.

Young people losing their health, spending time with pretending quacks and unsuitable treatment, forcing diseases into their bodies with deadly poisons, causing fatal disorders to the head, throat, nose, liver and lungs, stomach and bowels, speedily cured. No false modesty should prevent them calling at once.

Foreign Facts.

London, August 18.—As a result of the meeting of the Iron Masters West Look and many furnaces in Lanarkshire are blown out. The strike is spreading to Ayarshire, and considerable inconvenience is being felt in consequence of the scarcity of coal. Several traders have been compelled to sail with ballast instead of coal.

The case of arms seized at Cork on Monday and kept in the custom house under guard, has been delivered to the consignee.

Big Fire in St. Louis.

St. Louis, August 18.—John Craugle, Secretary of the Milling Company, places the loss on the mill, machinery and contents at $300,000. There were about forty thousand bushels of wheat in the mill. Twenty-eight box-cars on the track in the rear of the mill were burned. Some of them were loaded with grain. William Minheimer, one of the millers, was in the upper part of the mill when it took fire and being unable to escape by the stairway leaped from a fourth story window and was fatally wounded.

Two More Victims of the New Jersey Disaster.

Philadelphia, Aug. 18.—Katie McCrystal, four years old, a daughter of David McCrystal, of Philadelphia, died last evening from injuries received in the railroad disaster of Wednesday last at May's Landing. Lillie Grace, also injured in the disaster, died at May's Landing this morning.

Suicide of a Fireman.

Auburn, N. Y., August 18.—Joseph P. Morris, chief engineer of the fire department, killed himself to-day. His concern for the success of the firemen's state convention now holding here unsettled his mind.

Lively Riots Over the Water.

London, August 18.—During a riot at Dungannon on Sunday many of the police were wounded, their ranks being several times broken. They finally fired buckshot into the crowd and the firing was returned from revolvers and showers of stones fell, many of the rioters almost rushing on the points of bayonets in the eagerness of the attack. The police then fired a a volley of ball cartridge and many persons were wounded. One man had the side of his head riddled with buck shot and received a bullet in the abdomen from the effects of which he died shortly after.

At Downpatrick in a fight between catholics and orangemen fire arms were used incessantly from 11 o'clock Sunday afternoon until 3 o'clock Monday morning. Several persons were severely wounded.

The Fenian Troubles.

London, Aug. 18.—A Queltah dispatch says: "The enemies force in the attack on the garrison at Keich on Sunday night is estimated at 2,000; their loss 200 killed instead of 80 as previously reported. The British loss is 15 killed and 25 wounded. The last brigade of Gen. Stewart's force has reached Gundamuk unmolested. The evidence pointing to the probability of a Fenian plot to blow up the barracks the guards have been doubled and patrols of eighty men watch the extension of the barracks nightly. It is said that two barrels of gunpowder were found Monday afternoon in the relay tunnel under the barracks.

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS.

There was nothing filed in the Clerk's office to day.

Several of the stores in the Wolke block are undergoing repairs.

A post mortem examination was made this forenoon upon the remains of Mrs. V. Root who died last Monday. The autopsy was made by Drs. Dills, assisted by Drs. Smith, McCullock, Heuser and McCullock, jr. It was ascertained that death was produced from a shock induced by rupture of the gall bladder which contained several gall stones of various sizes.

After detailing a long list of cures made by the loudly praised St. Jacobs Oil, among them Mr. Geo. Fischer, cured of chonic rheumatism of the knee joint; a lady who had been treated for years by physicians without relief, and cured by the oil, of rheumatism in the knee; Mrs. Fuchs of an obstinate ulcer which had resisted all other remedies; Mr. C. Haehnly of a severe dislocation; all of Jackson, Michigan, the Daily Patriot of that city observes: We have fallen upon strange times and customs, if the foregoing is not considered sufficient to impress the justice of the claims of of this incomparable article.

WHAT THE WIRES SAY.

The Knights Templars' Competitive Drill.

Crimes and Casualties Abroad in the Land.

A Half Million Loss by Fire in St. Louis.

Chicago, August 18.—By 8 o'clock this morning the tide of travel set rapidly toward Central park, where the competitive drill of the Knights Templar takes place to-day. Every kind of conveyance was pressed into service and many thousands went out by the street cars. The weather was oppressively hot and when the drill commenced the 25,000 people who had assembled were impatient at the delay and the incompleteness of the arrangements. The drill did not begin until nearly noon, although 9:30 was the hour set. The crowd did not however stop coming and will doubtless be increased rather than diminished during the afternoon. The following commanderies are participating: Ivanhoe, St. Louis; Mount Demoli, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Monroe, Rochester, New York; Damacus, St. Paul; Roper, Indianapolis; Oriental, Cleveland; Demoli, Louisville; Rod, Dayton, Ohio; Bayward, Stillwater, Minnesota. All these bodies presented a fine appearance and as they appeared on the enclosed grounds of the Jockey Club Park where the drill occurs they were received with cheers.

Additional Particulars of the St. Louis Fire.

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—The mill was running thirty burrs instead of twenty, as stated last night. The tracks in the rear of the mill belong to the Union Depot Co., instead of the Missouri Pacific, and the cars burned there were owned by different railroad companies. The destruction of surrounding property and individual losses will make the aggregate loss by fire and water fully half a million. Loss on rink and contents, perhaps $10,000. The artillery company that used it for drill exercise lost two cannons, harness, etc. The Light Guard cavalry, which also used the building, lost some forty saddles, sixty sets of sabres, revolvers and accoutrements.

St. Louis, Mo., August 18.—The loss by the burning of the Yeager mill last night is now estimated at over $400,000 dollars. A large lot of new and valuable machinery was received at the mill yesterday and was hoisted to the third floor, all of which was destroyed.

The Connecticut Democrats.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 18.—Senator Eaton was made permanent President of the Democratic State Convention. He referred to the electoral commission as the greatest political crime of modern times and appealed to Connecticut to set her broad seal of condemnation upon the fraud of '76. He had no faith in it. The expression was vociferously applauded. He congratulated himself that there was but one feeling in reference to it. Now as he lived he believed Connecticut would give Hancock and English five thousand majority. The Government should be taken out of the hands of those who had fraudulently retained it. There would be a saving of at least fifty million dollars a year. It was the power over all that has brought prosperity. John Sherman was not even a guide-post to the refunding of the Government bonds at four per cent. He could do nothing except as ordered by a Democratic Congress.

James E. English, of New Haven, was nominated for Governor and telegraphed his acceptance. Charles M. Pond, of Hartford, was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor. S. S. Blake, for Secretary of State; Morwick A. Mertz for Treasurer, and Charles R. Tagan for Comptroller. The Electors at large are Charles R. Ingersol, New Haven, and Lorenz P. Waldo, first District; Richard W. Jarvis, Hartford, second District; H. G. Hubbard, Middletown; third District, Chancey F. Cleveland, Hampton; fourth Distrct, D. M. Couch, Norwalk.

On the 5th ballot Thomas C. Armstrong was nominated for judge of the court of appeals. The electors at large are L. J. McDonald and Harrison Jacobs.

Shot and Killed By a Drunkard.

Chicago, August 18.—Last evening Freeman T. Gross, a man of bad reputation who had been on a spree, shot and instantly killed Michael Fleming, a boiler maker. Fleming interfered to protect the family of Gross from abuse. The latter says he acted in self defense.

Arrest of a New York Broker.

New York, August 18.—The police are reticent about the arrest of Elijah Alliger, broker. Superintendent Walling says the arrest is in connection with the disappearance of bonds of great value.

Death of the Celebrated Violinist.

An Entire Family Becomes Insane.

New York, August 18.—Mrs. Sarah Thompson and two daughters who attracted so much attention by peculiar actions in Albany, arrived at the St. Nicholas hotel last night. All are now insane.

One daughter was removed to the hospital and another locked herself in the room and refusing to open the door the police and hotel employes were a long time gaining an entrance. As soon as the women could be induced to dress she and her mother were also taken to the hospital.

A Lively Blaze in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., August 18.—A fire at Glendale (O.) last night, burned Gove's stable, Kloeb's saloon and dwelling, Jno. Wendell's saloon, Dennis Buckley's residence and stable, Jno. Hapen's dry goods store and a stable. Total loss about $20,000; insurance $10,000.

Soft Money Patriots in Convention.

Syracuse, August 18.—The Greenback state convention reassembled today and reaffirmed the Chicago platform with the following addition: Land, air, light and water are free gifts of nature to all mankind and every person is entitled to enough of these to enable him to secure the necessary comforts of life, therefore we protest against further granting of large tracts of public lands by the government to railroad corporations or individuals. We demand a tariff which shall protect American industry.

Coesse Chat.

[Correspondence of the SENTINEL].

Coesse, Aug. 18.—Insurance agents do not like Coesse.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruch passed the Sabbath in this place.

Phil Allen is again in our village.

Wm. Singer is decidedly the proudest citizen in Coesse. It is a bouncing boy baby.

Adam Smith is with us again. A certain pair of bright blue eyes form quite an attraction for Adam.

Misses Katie and Ella Kane, with Master Phillie Conway, of Fort Wayne, have been visiting friends in this place.

Dr. Kitchcart and wife, of Columbia City, passed a few hours in our village Monday, with old friends. The doctor is yet "one of the boys."

Miss Nannie Kaufman will return to Pittsburg, Pa., this week.

The old church north of town is undergoing repairs.

It is understood that a wedding will, ere long, take place on the north side.

George York will leave on Friday to attend school at Valparaiso.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

No arrests were made to-day.

Croquet parties are going out of fashion.

The Pittsburg freight house is to be enlarged.

Supt. Hillegass is recreating at Huntertown.

W. A. Smith, of the Tremont house, is seriously ill.

The fire department was engaged in filling cisterns to day.

There was not a single case in any of the justices' courts to-day.

L. B. Root, of the firm of Root & Co., has returned to New York.

Jacob Shell, an old resident of Monroeville, is in the city to-day.

Two more three card monte men are in town. Look out for them.

A man named Parey came near being drowned while bathing near the aqueduct yesterday.

Two wagons collided on the Harrison street canal bridge this forenoon, and both suffered serious damage.

Henry S. Mench will probably leave next week for a trip through the eastern states on business and pleasure.

Franklin P. Hench, an attorney of Delphi, Ind., and brother of Samuel M. Hench, our worthy criminal prosecutor, was nominated a few days ago by the democrats of Carroll and White counties for circuit prosecutor.

The thermometer stood 100 degrees in the shade in the third story of the SENTINEL building at three o'clock this afternoon.

Wabash engine No. 366 to-day hauled seventy-seven loaded cars out of this city, the largest train ever drawn on the Wabash road.

A full list of the officers elected at the "First Voters" meeting last night will be published as soon as it can be obtained from the secretary, who is at present absent from the city.

Death of Mrs. Sarah Robinson.

Died, at her residence near Monroeville, Allen county, Ind., August 13th, 1880, of leuknemia and anaemia, Mrs. Sarah Robinson, wife of Amasa S. Robinson; aged 25 years and 10 months.

The deceased was born in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, October 13th, 1854. She removed with her father, Isaac Masters, to Ashland county, Ohio, and was married to Amasa S. Robinson September 23rd, 1875, since which time she has resided near Monroeville.

Deceased was universally loved and respected by all who knew her. Her remains were taken to Ashland county, Ohio, where they were interred Aug. 14th, 1880, the funeral sermon being preached by Rev. W. R. Wones, of the Methodist Episcopal church, August 13th, at her late residence, after which her remains were conveyed to the train followed by a large concourse of friends and neighbors who deeply sympathize with her bereaved husband in his affliction. Deceased left one child aged 11 days. J. S.

Narrow Escape.

What might have been a fatal accident had not fortunate circumstances intervened happened this afternoon in front of the Sentinel book and news depot. A little boy, probably about four years old, boarded a street car at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets and rode until the driver discovered him and ordered him off. When he saw the driver he became frightened, and in his hurry to get off fell. Just then an express wagon was going by and the prostrate child barely escaped death by being run over by the driver stopping the vehicle. This narrow escape should warn parents to keep their children from jumping on street cars and wagons in the crowded streets.

It is announced that Senator Conkling will deliver three speeches in Indiana during September. Yet he could not attend and speak at the Republican conference in New York, though he was in the hotel where it was held at the time. Conkling will manage to make his speeches where they will not do much good for Garfield.

The following was the language addressed to Gen. Arthur, Republican candidate for Vice President, by President Hayes, when he dismissed him from the New York Custom House: "With a deep sense of my obligations under the Constitution, I regard it as my plain duty to suspend you, in order that the office may be honestly administered.

"Carter, if you had the cards, wouldn't you play them?"

This is the answer Carter Harrison, then a Democratic member of Congress, and now mayor of Chicago, received from Garfield in reply to the question how it was possible for him as a member of the Electoral Commission to refuse to go behind the returns and decide the question of fact on its merits, after making the speech he did, saying that course would be taken.

Let us see how the principle thus avowed and practiced by Garfield will operate in his own case, should opportunity arise for it. He is now a candidate for President, and the joint convention of the two Houses of Congress that is to canvass the vote and declare the result, is Democratic in both branches. Suppose a state of things like that of 1876. The records of one House of Congress show that Garfield, after a full and free investigation, has been found guilty of corruption in office, and thereby forever disqualified from holding any office under the Government. Votes cast for a person not eligible to the office are of course not to be counted, and Garfield would be out of the question. "Carter, if you had the cards wouldn't you play them?"

Said James A. Garfield, Republican candidate for President, in a speech in Congress: "I believe, Mr. Speaker, that THE FAME OF JEFFERSON IS WANING and the fame of Hamilton waxing in the estimation of the American people, and that we are gravitating toward a stronger government. I am glad we are." When the Republican party was founded twenty-five years ago and led by such men as Seward, Lincoln, Chase, Sumner, Wilson, and others now dead and gone, in whose places pigmies have risen up, a great many Jeffersonian Democrats joined it for reasons satisfactory to themselves, and have been nominally with it since. When that party came into power in 1860 it did so upon its express pledge in its platform, which these Jeffersonian Democrats insisted should be made, that it favored "the maintenance of "the principles, promulgated in the "declaration of Independence "[written by Jefferson] and em- "bodied in the federal constitution," and that its purpose was "the mainte- "nance inviolate of the rights of the "states as essential to the balance of "power on which the perfection and "endurance of our political fabric de- "pend." Under the men who now lead and control the republican party, it has drifted away from these Jeffersonian moorings, until we hear them boldly declare that "the fame "of Jefferson is waning;" that "that "the fame of Hamilton is waxing;" that we are "gravitating toward a "stronger government;" that "I "(James A. Garfield) am glad we are;" that the United States is a nation;" and so on to the end. It is no wonder that in view of this changed composition of the leadership of the Republican party, and this changed purpose of its organization and existence, all Jeffersonian Democrats, or Republicans, old and young, who have hitherto acted with that party, are leaving it and rallying under the standard of the soldier-statesman who penned the Order No. 40 and the Pease and Sherman latters. There alone can they be politically at home.

HOW POOR ORTH WAS TREATED.

[New York Sun.]

One of the most conspicuous of the followers whom Garfield has brought in his train from the west is Godlove S. Orth, of Indiana. Orth was frequently presented among the speakers at the various stopping places on the route from Buffalo to this city.

The more discreet portion of the cavalcade would gladly have shaken Orth off. But he is a brazen politician and a pushing fellow, and the best the managers could do in the dilemma was to contrive to introduce him just at the close of the performances, when the disgusted engine—as the reports inform us—would give a snort of unusual violence, and rush away at high speed before Orth could get his speech well agoing.

Garfield is enough of a politician to know that Orth can only injure him in his tour. But what could he do? If he or any of his friends had dared to even intimate that Orth's course in the matter of the Venezuela claims rendered his presence unsavory, Orth would have turned upon them with the stinging retort: "What! does Garfield, with the Credit Mobilier dividend and the De Golyer fee in his pocket, and the Poland report branded upon his forehead, object to my standing by his side before the Republicans of the country?"

The fear that a scene of this sort might occur deterred Garfield and his body guard from venturing to hint that Orth's presence and speeches would impart a disagreeable odor to their performances while traveling through a State that had recently buried the Canal Ring and the Tweed Ring out of sight.

AFTER A RUNAWAY MATCH.

A Husband Charging that He Has Been Robbed of His Wife.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 15.—The Rev. Joseph P. Taylor has been compelled to resign the rectorship of St. Paul's Episcopal church here because of trouble about his daughter. Nellie Taylor was a bright and pretty girl of about 22, when, a year ago last May, she escaped from her father's house and married William J. Aucott. Aucott was a painter. His six brothers were in the same line of business. The "Seven Brothers" was the title they went under, and the title is a familiar one out in Germantown, where they came from. The Rev. Joseph P. Taylor lived at 623 Market street, Camden. As rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church he possibly had higher aspirations for his daughter than to see her the wife of one of the seven brothers. Aucott sung in the choir. So did Miss Nellie. They met for the first time in the winter of 1876. The weeks were not many before the young man and the young girl discovered that they were in love with each other.

About Easter of last year the rector noticed how matters were drifting. He spoke to his daughter, and she acknowledged that she liked the young man. Previous to that he had done some work in his trade at the preacher's house, but at that time never had entered it as a guest, and, so far as is known, was never received there as a visitor at all. One day after Easter Mr. Taylor met Aucott on the street and spoke to him touching the growing intimacy between him and Nellie, but the answer was not satisfactory. The young man made reply to the questions in Yankee style by asking if he was not good enough to marry the girl.

"I don't know but that you are, but the match for other reasons is not a suitable one," said the preacher, and he turned on his heel and forbade his daughter seeing her lover, a good-looking young man of 25. His commands were not obeyed. The lovers had surreptitious meetings. In her manners the girl was like a child, susceptible of every influence which surrounded her and forming almost every day the most violent attachments. These affections were usually as brief as they were violent, and almost invariably had ended in some catastrophe. But with all these traits indicative of fickleness she was a very accomplished young lady—a fine pianist and singer, and possessed of a wide range of knowledge, gathered by reading under her father's skilful direction. She had never been called upon to do any domestic work, and was unskilled in culinary art, and for this reason her father considered her totally unfit to fulfil the duties of a poor man's wife. But in spite of all precautions the lovers managed to elude the eyes of the rector, and made and remade their vows of constancy. Finally the father again saw the necessity of prompt measures. He met the young man and said that he would send his daughter away for six months, and at the end of that time, if both were of the same opinion, no objections would be interposed to an immediate marriage. The same proposition was submitted to Miss Nellie, and both approved of it, and all arrangements were made to send the girl away. Tickets were purchased, and a sister of the rector's was brought in to take her niece to Chicago.

Now comes the strangest part of the story. Miss Nellie claimed that her father intended shutting her up in an asylum, and she laid her plans to escape. It was on the evening of Friday, May 9, of last year, that her trunk was packed, and that she went to her room promising to go West with her aunt the next day. The rector was suspicious. He had a policeman stationed in front of the house, but the policeman was useless. Somewhere in the night Nellie climbed out of a window on to a shed and dropped to the ground. She sought the house where lived the seven brothers. Her lover was only too glad to see her. To him she said that her father had got a physician to swear that she was insane, and unless she escaped she would be placed in a lunatic asylum. Aucott and his sweetheart immediately crossed over the river to Philadelphia and took the first train for Germantown. The next morning when the rector sought his daughter she was missing. He went to Prosecutor of the Pleas Jenkins, and said: "My daughter Nellie, over 21 years of age, has left my house, I believe, with a young man named Aucott. Are there any legal steps I can take to bring her home?" The Prosecutor of the Pleas shook his head and answered: "Your daughter being of age leaves you without the assistance of the law to bring her home."

The rector was powerless to act. In a day or two came a note from his daughter. "We are married," she wrote, "and are happy."

A short time after the quiet wedding in Germantown Aucott and his wife returned to Camden. They rented a house, and in the course of time a child was born. Then came a struggle. Aucott could not get enough work to support his wife properly, and he was forced to call upon his father-in-law. At first the rector would have nothing to do with him, but finally promised to pay for the meals which the young wife took in a restaurant. Mrs. Aucott was unhappy. This kind of life did not suit her, and she began to fail. A short time ago the rector made a proposition to send the young wife and her child to the country to recuperate. She liked the idea, and so did Aucott, and Nellie said good-by to her husband. That was the last he has seen of her. He declares that the rector has finally had his way, has robbed him of his wife, and has locked her up in an asylum for the insane.

A Dare-Devil Jehu.

Buffalo Bill tells a good story about a party of Englishmen traveling on the plains before the Pacific railroad was finished. They came grumbling into Laramie, abusing the driver and the coach and the "blarsted country" generally, because, they averred, there was no "coaching or driving outside of England." Their contempt of all things American was showing in the most offensive manner to all the people standing around as they alighted. It happened that Bob Scott, the finest driver and the most reckless dare-devil on the plains, was to take the coach to the next station, eight miles westward from Laramie, and as the gay Jehu heard the remark of the Britishers, he slowly made up his mind to give them a specimen of purely American coaching. The stable boys led out six colts, that looked as if they had never heard of a stage before; they reared and snorted, plunged and kicked until the noble Britons were quite delighted with the anticipation of a fine drive.

"Now, driver, just give 'em their heads and let 'em go; don't you be afraid, my boy."

"Yes, says another encouragingly, "my good fellow, just go ahead."

Bob mounted the box slowly while a man held each horse; he gathered the reins and said quickly: "Let 'em go." And they did, and the colts plunged and reared but Bob's iron grasp held them in. With the aid of the California brakes he held them down to a walk for three miles, while passengers blasphemed at him for a "cad" and a sneak. At the end of that three miles they got to the top of a hill and one Briton poked his head out of the window and began to say something, but as he did, a wild unearthly yell waked that vicinity, and at the same time Bob threw all six lines down. The coach seemed to lift from the ground, and those six colts started at the very best speed they could make. Another yell from Bob, and they seemed to increase it; then to help matters, he drew his revolver and began firing over the horses' heads.

"Great God," cried the Britons, "we'v got in the hands of a blarsted lunatic!"

"Stop, stop!" they shouted; but the mad team and crazy driver tore on faster and faster, while the stage went bouncing over the rocky road in a way that threatened to pound the passengers to pieces. Bob craned his neck over and yelled into the window:

"Gents, I'm just getting 'em started; they'll do better after awhile." And he took out the lamps and hurled them at the leaders with a wild Comanche war-whoop.

The affrighted passengers presently saw the station in full view; the question was how was that team to be stopped. They gave themselves up for gone, and hung on despairingly to the seats. It seems that the horses were accustomed to go right into the stable, coach and all, and up they came to the open door at full speed. There was a yell from the assembled stable attendants and tavern loafers, then a frightful crash as the whole top of the coach went off, throwing three Britons out and breaking two arms and a leg, besides other slighter accidents. Bob came out of the stable smiling, picked up an Englishman, and said:

"Never mind, sir; we'll have a real nice drive to the next station. I was obliged to take 'em along slowly over that 'ere bad road. Boys, put in the other team in a fresh coach, and give me a couple of cocktails. Its dull driving so doggone slow, and I'm powerful dry."

Those Englishmen waited and sent for a doctor, but they did not put down any thing in their notebook about American driving.—Washington Capital.

A Farmer's Holiday.

Just as a farmer of our acquaintance threw off his last sheaf from the last load of wheat he remarked:

"Good enough, the wheat is all in and could not be in better order, but I've worked for it, and I deserve a day of rest. There has been no let up since I began plowing in the spring, and if any man deserves a holiday, I do?"

This remark was acquiesced in by the listeners and he was urged to take the holiday.

Several days have elapsed since the barn doors were closed upon that man's wheat crop, but he has found no time for the recreation promised. Every day has been filled with work that seemed necessary to be done. The hired man has been kept busy. The boys who have anticipated a jolly day have been given regular work. Worse than all, the tired mother, with the little ones about her, still works on early and late, with the added difficulty of trying to soothe the mourning children who had caught the promise of a day in the woods and would not be satisfied until fulfilled.

That family will not have their holiday. The oat harvest will be upon them in a day or two; then the threshing, then the summer fallow and the seeding, the corn harvest and the roots—and then it will be winter.

Why cannot that man see he is doing a great wrong to himself and his family? He is waiting for a day when no work is to be done before he takes his recreation, and that day upon the farm never comes. There is always something that can be done. Why could not that farmer, the very next day after his wheat was safely under cover, take his whole family and go to the woods or to the lake, giving his hired help a holiday to use as they pleased, and spend the day himself in complete recreation from the cares and duties of the farm, devoting himself to the happiness of wife and children, thus promoting the utmost good feeling and straightening out many of the care-lines on his own brow. There is nothing in the world that will so unite a family in purpose and develope a trustful, confiding disposition toward one another as these occasional holidays participated in, fostered and enjoyed by every member, and I wonder that so few realize this great truth by a practical experience.

Let the day be a promised one some time in advance that all may be anticipating it and arranging for it, and by no manner of means let the promise be unfulfilled. We urge every farmer within 100 miles of Ft. Wayne to spend at least one day visiting our Fair. He will not only find rest and recreation, but enjoyment in inspecting the vast number of agricultural implements there displayed, the magnificent collection of thorough bred cattle, delicious vegetables, beautiful paintings, and the thousand and one articles that delight the heart. We don't have holidays enough or jolly times enough upon the farm for our own good, and too often the day's sport, when taken, is neutralized by the half guilty way in which we leave the work behind to take the day of rest. To make the most of the day, let all care and thought of work be left at home, and come to the Fair, bringing your wife and children. You will have a better wife for it, and she will have a better husband, both will have better chidren, life will be prolonged, and general happiness promoted.

[Detroit Free Press]

Several men were gathered at the door of a blacksmith shop on Cass avenue the other morning, when a school boy, not over nine years of age, came along with tears in his eyes, and one of the group asked:

"What's the matter, boy—fall down?"

"N-no, but I've got a hard 'rithmetic lesson, and I expect to get licked!" was the answer.

"Let me see; I used to be a king-bee on fractions."

The man took the book, turned to the page, and read:

"Rule 1—Find the least common multiple of the denominators of the fractions for the least common denominator. Divide this least common denominator by each denominator, and multiply both terms of the fractions by the quotient obtained by each denominator."

He read the rule aloud, and asked if any one could understand it. All shook their heads, and he then continued:

"Well, now, I think I should go to work and discover the least uncommon agitator. I would then envolve a parallel according to the intrinsic deviator and punctuate the thermometer."

"So would I!" answered every man in chorus, and one of them added: "I've worked 'em out that way a thousand times!"

Not one of the men, all of whom were in business and had made money, could even understand the working of the rule, much less work examples by it, and yet it was expected that a nine-year old boy should go to the black-board and do every sum off hand.

Dr. Harter's FEVER & AGUE SPECIFIC

STANDS TO-DAY WITHOUT A RIVAL IN THE WORLD. For the cure of all kinds of Ague and Chills it has no equal; having stood the test of universal use for thirty years in the most malarial districts. It never fails to cure, not merely removing for a time the symptoms, but eradicating the cause of the disease, thereby making a permanent cure. Price only 75 cts.

Manufactured by The Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

Rev. F. Hackemeier, Supt. German Protestant Orphans' Home, St. Charles Rock Road, St. Louis Co., writing April 30th, 1877, says: "Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific is a positive cure for Chills and Fever; has never failed with us."

Mr. Jno. C. Welborn of Keysport, Ill., says: "I cured a little girl of Ague of three years' standing, with Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific, after the best physicians failed to benefit her."

Dr. Youngblood of Little York, Mo., says: "I have used Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific in my practice, and can heartily recommend it to the public."

AND OTHERS SEEKING

HEALTH, STRENGTH and ENERGY,

WITHOUT THE USE OF DRUGS, ARE REQUESTED TO SEND FOR THE ELECTRIC REVIEW, AN ILLUSTRATED JOURNAL WHICH IS PUBLISHED FOR FREE DISTRIBUTION.

IT TREATS upon HEALTH, HYGIENE, and Physical Culture, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for invalids and those who suffer from Nervous, Exhausting and Painful Diseases. Every subject that bears upon health and human happiness, receives attention in its pages; and the many questions asked by suffering invalids, who have dispaired of a cure, are answered, and valuable information is volunteered to all who are in need of medical advice.

The subject of Electric Belts versus Medicine, and the hundred and one questions of vital importance to suffering humanity, are duly considered and explained.

YOUNG MEN!

And others who suffer from Nervous and Physical Debility, Loss of Manly Vigor, Premature Exhaustion and the many gloomy consequences of early indiscretion, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents.

The ELECTRIC REVIEW exposes the unmitigated frauds practiced by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple, and effective road to Health, Vigor and Bodily Energy.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

ACTS DIRECTLY ON THE KIDNEYS,

Bladder and Urinary Organs by Absorbing all humors, every trace of disease, and forcing into the system through the pores of the skin, nourishing and strengthening vegetable tonics, giving it wonderful power to cure at once.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

Side or Loins, Inflamation and Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Diabetes, Dropsy, Gravel, Catarrh of the Bladder, Inability to Retain or Expel the Urine, Stone in the Bladder, High Colored, Scanty or Painful Urinating, Deposits, Casts or Shreds in the Urine. NERVOUS & PHYSICAL DEBILITY and in fact any disease of these great organs, whether contracted by over work, strain, excessive drink, the abuse of nature or otherwise.

It supercedes entirely the inconveniences and troubles of taking nauseous and poisonous internal medicines.

It is worn exactly where needed, next to the body and immediately over the kidneys.

It is comfortable to the patient, safe, pleasant and reliable in its effects, but powerful in its action.

It can be worn at all times, in any climate, and is equally good for

MAN, WOMAN OR CHILD.

Do not be prejudiced. Give it a trial and be convinced that it is honest, reliable, effective and just what your feeble and exhausted body requires. Thousands are daily adding their testimony to the wonderful curative powers of this great remedy, who are being restored to perfect health after all other treatments and remedies have failed. Ask your druggist for it and accept no imitation or substitute. If he has not got it, send to us and receive it by return mail.

Descriptive Price List.—Regular Pad, $2; Special Pad, for Chronic, deep-seated or cases of long standing, $3; Children's Pad, for summer complaint, weak kidneys and bed wetting, $1.50. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," containing a history of this great discovery, mailed free. Write for it.

A VERY CUTE ONE.

The Ingenious Dodge of a Fashionably Dressed Confidence Man.

The Cleveland Herald in a recent issue says: "Talk about your hotel beats," said a clerk in one of the hotels of the city, the other evening. "I heard of one of the toughest cases which happened a short time ago. I got the first part of the story from the proprietor of a prominent restaurant, to whom the fellow told a history of the affair before he skipped out of town. He said that one evening this fellow came in and sat down to a table, giving his orders with the air of a millionaire. He was nicely dressed, and wore a long, handsome ulster. After he had finished his supper he started out seeming to forget that he hadn't paid. The proprietor stopped him with a reminder of the fact, when it was found that the fellow was a beat and hadn't a cent of money. The restauratuer was angry and about to administer a dose of leather beneath the tails of that elegant ulster, when the fellow begged off and said he would leave his pantaloons with the proprietor as a security till morning. The gentleman in order to test him consented and the fellow went behind the screen and divested himself of the afore mentioned garment, leaving only the light covering of his underclothing. With his ulster buttoned close around him, he still had the appearance of a well dressed gentleman with his pantaloons stuffed in his boots. He left the breeches and went out. Entering a certain prominent hotel, he walked to the register, entered his name, demanded to be shown to his room, and instructed the clerk to have him called at eight o'clock in the morning, all of which was complied with; but when the boy called him at eight o'clock the air about the room was blue with profanity, and the fellow ordered the boy to send the landlord up immediately. The landlord, thinking something terrible had happened, immediately repaired to the room and found his guest apparently in a terrible rage. He wanted to know what kind of a d——d house they kept there, full of petty sneak thieves. "Just look here," said he, "my pantaloons, containing my pocket-book and watch are gone, and some one connected with this house took them, for they must have crawled over the transom. I tell you, by——, I'll give this place away to every man on the road." The landlord was considerably chagrined about the matter, and sent out for a pair of pantaloons, and as the rest of the clothes were very elegant, an elegant pair was purchased. The fellow was then taken to breakfast and shown the best attention the house could afford. After breakfast the landlord gave him $20, as he had to leave immediately, and promised to leave no stone unturned until the thief was discovered. The cute young gentleman went to the restaurant, redeemed his pants, told the story and skipped the town about $19.50 ahead.

BONNER'S HORSES.

The Fastest Collection in America—What They Cost.

[New York Correspondence Indianapolis Herard.]

Gentlemen of refinement, taste and wealth, are given to indulging some particular fancy, mania or hobby to the fullest extent. Some spend fortunes on fine pictures and bric-a-brac, some collect antique books, both old and new; while others invest largely in diamonds and other precious gems. And these are hung, cased and cherished, and exhibited to friends and admired as treasures of the highest order. But the world is made of many men of many minds. While works of men are loved by some, they give back no affection in return to the owner. Mr. Robert Bonner, the widely known connoisseur, has an expensive but humane fancy for horses. They are not only lovable, but loving, and give affection in return for the tender care and admiration bestowed upon them. No gentleman in America possesses this extravagant taste and gratifies it so royally as Mr. Bonner. Notwithstanding he already owns over twenty of the most valuable and best known horses in the country, he is continually making additions to the collection whenever he comes upon one that strikes his fancy. Not one is ever, under any circumstances, permitted to run upon a public track, but are only driven for the pleasure and amusement of the owner who derives no benefit other than enjoyment. Dexter, the oldest of the animals, was twenty-two years old last may, and although he still retains his great beauty, has lost his good disposition; he is awfully cross and curls his hautghy lip and shakes his aristocratic head most significanly at strangers. He is driven twice or three times each week and is as fast as when he was purchased for $33,000. Rarus is as well known as Dexter, and with Music, a beautiful chestnut, make a team often used by Mr. Bonner before a plain black top-wagon, with red running gear. Edwin Forrest cost wellnigh on to $40,000 and makes remarkable time. Lately he trotted a mile in 2:17¼, before a heavy wagon of 270 pounds weight, when driven by his owner. Major Morton is a bright bay, handsome, rapid and valuable. May Bird is a shapely creature, as black as a crow, but as graceful as the bird is awkward, and travels as well under saddle as in harness. Molsey is another beauty; bay, with black mane, tall and fast, and soft gentle eyes, which are very attractive. Grafton is a 2:15 trotter, and, like Joe Elliott, is as high priced as fast. Pocahontas is known far and wide. Elsey Verner and Lucy Colyer are wonderful travelers, with fine records, and are valued away up in the thousands. Maude Macy is a recent addition to the stables, and is a gem in every sense. Emma B., named for Mr. Bonner's only living daughter, is too "darling for anything." She is a light chestnut, with a satin coat, the trimmest feet and legs, the prettiest ears, the mildest, most intelligent eyes, and the carriage of a handsome woman. She is used in harness or with saddle, and is one of the particular pets.

Use of Adversity.

You wore out your own cloths, you are not troubled with many visitors; you are exonerated from making calls, spongers do not haunt your table, itinerant bands do not play opposite your window. No one thinks of presenting you with a testimonial; no tradesman irritates you by asking, "is there any other little article to-day, sir?" You practice temperance; flatterers do not shoot their rubbish into your ear; you are saved many a debt, and lastly, if you have a true friend in the world you are sure in a very short space of time to learn it. Solid Silver and Silver plated ware, all plated ware, triple plated castors, card stands, knives, spoons and forks, six pieces tea ware forty dollars, tea and dinner set of China, one hundred and six pieces of good crockery, only ten dollars, Students' lamps. Everything twenty per cent. cheaper for cash, than any other house. Ward's Cheap Crockery Store, No. 8 West Columbia street, Sign Big Iron Dog.

Early on Saturday morning the Fort Wayne station house at Sewickley was discovered in flames, but the fire was extinguished before any great damage was done.

A letter received by friends in this city yesterday from Joshua Hartzell, who is at present in Antwerp, O., contained the glad intelligence that he is alive and well and would like to lay his hands on the wretch that circulated the report that he was drowned in Lake Michigan.

Emigration West continues, with this difference—more of the emigrants are foreigners. Three times as many are going North as formerly. The story of the drought in Western Kansas has evidently got abroad, and Nebraska seems to be preferred. That State is evidently now filling up very rapidly.

Mr. Joseph Warner, who is at present in the city in the capacity of agent for T. J. Stoner, who is taking bird's-eye views of the principal cities of the United States, made a pleasant call at the SENTINEL office yesterday and showed us a beautiful view of this city. Our citizens should encourage such an enterprise, as it is a worthy one.

Creighton Popejoy, of whom an account was given in all the papers as having his leg terribly injured by a car wheel running over it, now comes forward and denies that he was injured. The SENTINEL obtained its account of the affair from the physicians who attended, but it is possible that he was mistaken or else two individuals of the same name are at present in the city.

Jesse H. Bond, who is a resident of Antwerp, and who has just returned from the western country, brought several specimens of rock to this office to-day which are great curiosities and any one desiring to see them can do so by calling at this office. Mr. Bond is a most pleasing gentleman and possesses great knowledge of the country he has just left.

Yesterday afternoon four young men entered Mannock's saloon on Broadway and began tearing things up in the most approved manner. They pulled the bar from its fastenings, broke all the glasses, and wound up by signifying their intention to eviscerate the barkeeper; but they finally reconsidered their intention and left the place. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Chas. Eichoff who was one of the party.

John Morgan, a rather dilapidated institution, and a young "coon," were all the victims before his honor this morning, the former for being unable to navigate, and the latter for jumping on cars. Morgan was fined $10, while the "coon," whose other name is Enslow, a colored boy who was arrested by Officer Kelly, at the South depot yesterday afternoon for jumping on cars. The officer repeatedly warned the boy to keep away, but he persisted in his intention and the officer was compelled to arrest him. The boy, who is not over twelve years of age, resisted violently and attempted to get away by slipping out of his clothes. He was given a sharp reprimand by his honor and let go.

Attention Democrats of the Seventh Ward.

A meeting of the Hancock and English club of the Seventh Ward will be held at the engine house, on Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock sharp. All members are requested to be present as business of importance is to be transacted. By order of club.

VAL R. MASON, Sec.

The Young Democrats in Council.

Pursuant to a call of the Central Committee the "first voters" Hancock and English club met in the circuit court room last night, there being nearly one hundred and fifty young men present. Jos. F. Beegan presided and business was at once proceeded to. The question was advanced by one of the young men present whether the club, which he said he understood had disbanded should be re-organized or continued under the same officers elected when the club was organized. After some discussion on this point it was agreed that the old officers should be retained and a committee was appointed by the chair to retire and present the names of such members as they thought fit to act as officers on parade occasions. After considering a motion to appoint recuriting officers in the different wards and naming next Tuesday evening as the time and the circuit room as the place for the next meeting, the club adjourned with three rousing cheers for Hancock and English. After adjournment the club proceeded to the clerk's office, where it was shown the banner which is to be shortly presented them, and with Tom Keefe bearing it aloft the members of the club sang "John Brown's Body Lies Mouldering in the Grave," after which Will O'Rourke led in prayer and the boys dispersed.

Democratic Thunder All Along the Line.

During the next ten days a series of Democratic meetings will be held throughout the several townships of the county, which will be addressed by able speakers from abroad, as well as by our local speakers. This evening Henry Colerick, esq., will discuss the issues of the campaign at the junction of the Illinois and Huntington roads. In the circuit court room, to-morrow (Thursday) evening, Gov. Brockmeyer will address the Democracy of the city. He will speak in English and will be followed by Hon. J. D. Sarnighausen, who will talk in German. A general turn-out of the people of the city is desired. There will also be a meeting to-morrow evening at Massilon which will be addressed by S. E. Sinclair, Esq. On Saturday evening, August 21, Gov. Brockmeyer will be present and speak at the Democratic meeting to be held at Hoagland, and on Thursday, August 26, Hon. A. Ellison, of LaGrange, the Democratic elector for this Congressional district, will address the people of Ft. Wayne on the issues involved in the present political struggle. The place of holding this last named meeting will be announced in due time. The work of the campaign is progressing satisfactorily all over the county.

The Cholera Plague.

Vienna, August 18.—The cholera is raging in a village near Terrun Serverin in Roumania, causing an average of fifteen deaths daily.

FUNNY BITS.

Farmers have learned that it takes the best of soil to raise a mortgage.

It is well to say: "Take things as they come," but suppose they don't come?

An old thermometer is never very popular. Nobody wants to see a thermometer over 70.

The country is full of poets, scholars and deep thinkers, but the man has not been born who can tell why the sleeves of summer undershirts are always five inches too long.

"What must I do," asked a mean and conceited man of a friend who knew him well, "to get a picture of the one I love most?" "Sit for your own portrait," was the reply.

Irate instructor of volunteers: "Shure now, Mr. Jenkins, yeare late again. Now I ask you, sor, where should we be, sor, if everybody came half an hour behind the rest?"

The Leadville epitaphs are terse and pointed. Here is one:

O'er this poor gambler's silent clay,
Kind reader do not grieve;
His death took place when Johnson caught
Three cards up his sleeve.

"Are you there, my love?" he whispered through a hole in the fence of his beloved's garden. "Yes, darling was the reply; "jump over." He did so, and alighted in the presence of an enraged mother, a broomstick and a guardian of the night.

Dr. X. is as bad a hunter as he is a physician, but this does not prevent him regularly as the hunting season comes round from spending a fortnight in the fields with his dog and gun. "And that is the only period of the year when he doesn't kill anything," said one of his colleagues kindly.

Grateful, comforting and sustaining in mental or physical weakness are Malt Bitters.

Dr. J. Freeston, Hamburg, Pa., writes: After having tried all the different medicines that came to my knowledge for the cure of sick headache, I found none equal to Hamburg Drops. I cheerfully add the above testimony in favor of the remedy.

MOTHS IN UPHOLSTERY.

For a suit of parlor furniture purchase three gallons of benzine and saturate the upholstery with the same by means of a watering pot, to which attach a rose sprinkler. Every moth, larvæ and egg will be killed. The benzine will dry out in a few hours, and in three or four days the odor will entirely disappear. The benzine will not injure the varnish or fabric, or wood or hair stuffing. Carpets can be treated in like manner with good effect. For furs, flannels, indeed all woolen articles which moth attack, benzine is almost invaluable. Such goods should be placed in a box sprinkled with benzine, after which close the box tightly, and in a day or two the pests will be exterminated and the benzine will evaporate on opening. In using benzine great care should be taken that no fire is near by, as the liquid, in fluid or vapor form, is very inflammable.

The above information will be valuable to many. But as an ounce of prevention is well said to be worth a pound of cure, it would be well to purchase all your upholstered furniture of Foster Brothers, who have never yet had a moth in their furniture department, who never propose to have, and who will pay to any person who will prove they ever sold a piece of furniture troubled with these pests.

Foster Brothers guarantee every article of furniture or bedding that goes out of their establishment. They have every reason to believe they are selling furniture and bedding at smaller profits than was ever before [illegible] in America.

TO YOUNG MEN.
A Sure Cure.

The awful effect of early vice, which brings organic weakness, destroying both mind and body, with all its dreadful ills. PERMANENTLY CURED. The results before consumption sets in are palpatation of the herrt, timiuity, trembling, nervous discharges, dyspepsia, etc., with those sad conditions of mind so much to be feared, forgetfulness, chaos of ideas, sadness of spirit, ugly imagining, dislike in social life and brooding melancholy. Married men, or those entering on that happy life, aware of physical debility, excitability of the nervous organic dimonition, or other irregularities, quickly assisted.

A quick cure guaranteed. NO MINERALS USED,

Young people losing their health, spending time with pretending quacks and unsuitable treatment, forcing diseases into their bodies with deadly poisons, causing fatal disorders to the head, throat, nose, liver and lungs, stomach and bowels, speedily cured. No false modesty should prevent them calling at once.
